

Daily Legislative Update

Friday, January 11, 2019

The General Assembly will not be meeting for session or committees today as is the case with every Friday during session. Bill filing deadlines have come and gone for both houses, so all bills are now available to the public. You can view each of them online by visiting the IGA's website below.

Governor Eric Holcomb revealed his administration's biennial budget yesterday and detailed what he thinks the state should do with its new dollars over the next two years. For more details on Holcomb's proposal, follow along with the provided links.

Legislators will return to the Statehouse on Monday with a full slate of committees on the calendar with session for both houses to follow.
