

Daily Legislative Update

Friday, February 1, 2019

Week 5 of the legislative session is now officially in the books and the General Assembly will adjourn for the weekend. Legislators are now beginning to find their rhythm as we have moved through the first quarter of the game. While it's still early, the narrative of this session is beginning to take shape. Some hot ticket issues like a potential hate crimes law and other bills have not received the attention that many had anticipated. It seems that lawmakers are focusing less on social issues, spending committee time on things like increasing teacher pay and finding new money to fund essential services for Hoosiers in need.

Work will resume on Monday, with a full week of hearings and caucus meetings set to take place. Stay tuned as we will be monitoring each of your bill lists and keeping you in the loop as they make their way through the legislature.
