

Daily Legislative Update

Wednesday, February 13, 2019

Today is another "Committee Day" at the Statehouse and legislators are preparing for what could be a long day ahead. After yesterday's conclusion, you can cross off one less opportunity for bills to be heard in committees prior to deadlines. As a result, House members will be motivated to work even harder this week so that they can get as many proposals heard as possible. Keep in mind that their deadline arrives two days before their Senate counterparts.

Much like most session Wednesdays, today's agenda has a host of committees set to meet. House Education and Insurance committees will begin at 8:30AM and the Senate will follow with Health and Judiciary at 9AM. The House Ways and Means committee will not be meeting on Thursday so today's 1:30PM meet time will serve as the body's last gathering before budget negotiations begin next week.

As always, you can view each committee's meetings in their entirety by using the webcast links below.
