

Daily Legislative Update

Tuesday, February 27, 2018

Today the House will close the book on committee hearings for the 2018 legislative session. They will continue the week with floor action on Senate bills before starting conference committees next week. The Senate will finish committee hearings on Thursday and come back next week for their final floor action.

The real debate is whether legislative leadership has the appetite to have just three or four days of conference committees; hence, ending session early by a couple days.

The deadline for House committee activities is Tuesday, February 27 and the Senate is Thursday, March 1. At that point in the process, all bills will need to be out of committee, or that specific bill number will be dead for the session. Language that has passed one house is eligible for conference committee.

Floor and Session Information:

Both the Senate and House will reconvene today at 1:30 PM. Make sure to check the links below for the most up to date committee postings. Don't forget, all committee and floor action can be viewed online.

Upcoming Dates:

Monday, March 5, is the third reading deadline in the House and Tuesday, March 6, is the third reading deadline in the Senate. March 14, by state statute, is the date session must Sine Die.
